A Place To Call Home

Older women want to live in a society which recognises their contribution and values them as an individual, regardless of their age. Older women are the new face of poverty and the fastest growing cohort amongst the homeless in Australia. Older women are also often excluded from the statistics of violence against women, and therefore remain hidden. Many older women are facing a future of economic uncertainty. Join our conference and take part in the discussions because Older Women also Refuse to be Invisible and Forgotten! We are loud, feisty and ready to take up the new challenges ahead.

Panels include

Invisible & Unvalued: Let's Fix Ageism

Jane Caro AO, Wendy Bacon, Nareen Young, Eva Cox AO

How Feminism Changes the Narrative on Violence vs Older Women

Jenna Price, Amani Haydar, Moo Baulch, Jess Hill, Sharron McKinnon

Affordable Housing: From Myth to Reality

Katherine McKernan, Karen Walsh, Debbie Georgopoulos,
Romola Hollywood

Join us in Sydney on the 17th and 18th October and be part of the solution to secure the future of Older Women in Australia.
